Superintendent's Report

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD AND CITIZENS OF BARTLETT:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—

I have the honor and privilege to submit to you my second annual report of the Bartlett public schools for the year 1913, it being the third in the series of such reports.

During the year much the same policy has been followed as in the preceding year. The rank and card system has been continued with satisfaction to all concerned.

The teachers keep a plan book which shows the work of each class for every day of the school year. This gives an opportunity for the superintendent to see just what progress has been made and the topics taken by the several divisions without interruption of the class work. In this plan book the teacher sets a standard for himself and class which they all strive to maintain.

The subjects of reading and arithmetic have been stressed during the year. We have tried to teach intelligent reading instead of mere calling of words and to make the work of arithmetic function in life problems. The results have not been all that I had hoped to see.

Some of the stories are dramatized in the lowest grades to give variety and interest to the reading. In this way the stories are lived by the children and thus they get a true picture of the descriptive matter read. This is of great value in learning to read understandingly.

In all of the schools the State Program of Studies has been followed. We have combined some classes such as reading, geography, language, etc., when such action would not interfere with the progress of the pupils, in order to reduce the number of recitations.

We have introduced, which has not been consistently carried out in all cases, a period for individual assistance. Not a period in which the pupil desires assistance but one in which the teacher knows that he needs aid to remove difficulties that prevent his understanding the work under consideration. The difficulty may be far back of the day's topic. It may take several of these periods for a pupil to get on his feet. This he will finally do if the work is not beyond his ability. If the class as a whole is found deficient one or more lessons are taken to clear up the matter. This is not a putting back of the class but an effort to get a foundation on which to build. The individuals with different difficulties cannot be treated in the class so need the special period for this purpose. Some times the teachers have done this work after school. This has a tendency to keep the class together so that a new task may be attacked with a solid front. We emphasize the work with the individual rather than with the mass.

Owing to the geographical location of the schoolhouses it has not seemed advisable to try to hold teachers' meetings for the town schools. Instead, I have gone over the work and needs of each school with the teacher on my visit, offering suggestions, making plans for future progress and testing out results.

My time has been divided as follows: 9.15 to Conway and 2.15 to each of Madison, Bartlett town and Bartlett special district. I have attended three county teachers' conventions, taking part in two, State Teachers' Association, New England Association of School Superintendents, two school board conferences and a three days' institute for superintendents. I also took three courses in education at Dartmouth College summer school. My reading has been such as to keep me abreast of the times in educational circles consisting of educational papers and professional books.

TEACHERS

Town District. Miss Inez M. Jackson taught the Hill Town school, Mr. Arthur G. Lord the school at Goodrich Falls, Mrs. Elsie M. Varney the Intervale school for the spring term and the Glen school for the fall and winter terms, the fall and winter term at Intervale was taught by Mabelle I. Hill, the spring term at Glen was taught by Mildred F. Lombard.

Special District. Nina F. Bean taught the first and second grades, Helen E. Thornton the third and fourth grades for the spring term, the fall term was more or less broken up by changes of teachers till Eva Morison was engaged who completed the fall term and has taught the winter term, Annie A. Williams taught the fifth and sixth grades, Mr. G. Hayes taught the seventh and eighth grades for the spring term and Fred A. Pearson for the fall and winter terms. All teachers employed have had normal training or hold a State certificate.

HOLIDAYS

During the year appropriate exercises were held in the schools to teach the meaning of the various public holidays and to commemorate the anniversary of the birthdays of Washington, Lincoln and Edison.

BOOKS AND SUPPLIES

The regular supplies and books, paper, pencils, etc., required to be furnished by State law, some supplementary reading, and a few individual dictionaries have been purchased. There has been no change in books. Many of the arithmetics are in bad condition. Some new ones should be purchased another year.

MUSIC AND DRAWING

The courses in music and drawing that were introduced into the curriculum of the special district have enriched the course. It is really wonderful to see what has been accomplished in the short time since their introduction. The best results, as a whole, are to be found in the lower grades. It will take several years for the best work to appear in the upper grades as ability to do along these lines is a result of growth. Miss Alice E. Dones is the special teacher.

What music and drawing have been done in the town schools have been conducted by the regular teachers doing according to their ability and interest along these lines.

EXHIBIT

There was an exhibit of the school work at the close of the schools last June. Those who saw the exhibit could judge the excellence of the work for themselves. Some of the work of each child was exhibited in all subjects where possible.
